What you should know:

1. Arrange for a Safe Haven for your pets — Never leave them behind!
   a. Contact your veterinarian for a list of boarding kennels.
   b. Identify hotels or motels outside of your immediate area that accept pets.
   c. Ask friends or relatives outside your immediate area if they would take in your pet.
   d. Ask your local animal shelter if it provides foster care or shelter for pets in an emergency. This should be your last resort, as shelters have limited resources and are likely to be stretched during an emergency.

2. Have an Emergency Kit Handy for your pet. This should include:
   b. Canned (pop-top) or dry food.
   c. Disposable litter trays.
   d. Litter or paper toweling.
   e. Pet feeding dishes
   f. Extra leash.
   g. Photocopies of Medical records and any medicines your pet may need.
   h. Bottled water.
   i. Pet carrier.
   j. Blanket
   k. Photos of your pet.

3. Time is of the essence when you must evacuate your home in a crisis. Minimize evacuation time by taking these simple steps:
   a. Store an emergency kit and leashes as close to your exit as possible or store it in your car.
   b. Make sure all pets are collared with up-to-date information. Tags should contain name, phone number, and any urgent needs.
   c. Microchip your pet. The shelter and Humane Society will do this for a small fee.
   d. Bring pets indoors at the first sign or warning of a storm or disaster.
   e. Consider your evacuation route and call ahead to make arrangements for taking your pet with you.

4. If you stay at home during a natural catastrophe:
   a. Locate rooms that offer safe havens.
   b. Have plenty of fresh water (fill up bathtubs and sinks) and food.
   c. In case of flooding, look for the highest location in your home with access to counters or high shelves where animals can take shelter.
   d. Don’t allow your pets to roam loose. Pets can become disoriented and get lost.
   e. Keep dogs on leashes and cats in carriers inside the house. IF your house is damaged, they could escape and become lost.
